Crack Firemen, Planes Control Halsey Blaze

Halsey (P)—The U.S. Forest Service sent crack Rocky Mountain air fire experts and chemical-dumping planes into the fight against a costly forest fire Thursday and brought the blaze under control.

But in 24 hours the fire had killed between 1½ and 2 million trees, the service said. Flames blackened 27,000 acres, 22,000 of them in the Bessey Division of Nebraska National Forest.

The Forest Service reported the flames had been contained, though several pockets of fire remained inside the fire lines.

A spokesman for the service said the fire-fighting "can drag out two or three days before all the hot spots are extinguished." After that a couple of weeks of mop-up operations would remain.

Fire Barriers

Bulldozers late Thursday were scraping clear wide swaths through the charred timber to create fire barriers.

Twenty-five pumping units were still at work.

The 32-acre Bessey Nursery escaped damage, according to Edward F. Littleholes, U.S. forester stationed at Denver. There are 15 million seedlings at the nursery ranging up to fairly good sized trees now available for replanting, according to Littleholes.

The fire started when lightning hit grasslands near the forest and flames, driven by 25 to 35 mile an hour winds, spread to the forest.

Then the wind became erratic.

Brian Steacy, Grand Island Independent reporter, who rode an REA truck into the heart of the fire area, said the wind sent the fire going in all directions, creating immense confusion.

"Fire scattered everywhere. You couldn't tell where it was. The volunteers couldn't tell where to go," he said.

Bags, Shovels Used

Ranchers and volunteer firemen by the hundreds fought the blaze with burlap bags and shovels.

Many rural fire department pumps were scattered along the river which flows by the forest, he said. "I couldn't guess how many tractors there were, trying to turn under the grass."

"County road maintainers were scraping paths and trenches."

Steacy watched volunteers try to save the 4-H camp. He and others watched helplessly as several of the buildings caught fire and burned because of lack of water. An area truck with a new water supply and a pump arrived in time to save the girl's bathhouse and one of the dormitories.

David S. Nordwall, regional forester from Denver, went to Halsey to be on the spot and the service marshaled 45 of its top fire-fighting specialists from the Rocky Mountain region.

Indians Help

A force of 135 Indian firemen from South Dakota was brought in.

Chemicals were dropped on the blaze by two converted Navy torpedo planes and a B26 on shuttle runs out of North Platte.

In Nebraska, he said, "trees are at a premium."

Morrison telephoned Freeman soon after he returned from the fire inspection.

He also ordered State Adjutant General Lyle Welch to look into the possibility federal funds may be available to rebuild a 4-H camp ravished by the fire. He said the entire camp was destroyed except for a lodge which he said was "saved through heroic efforts."

Not State Funds

He said he was opposed to using state funds to rebuild the camp, which is located on federal land.

"This is an obligation of the federal government," he said.

He questioned whether fire fighting facilities and personnel were adequate in the immediate area since crews had to be imported from Colorado. "By the time the Colorado crews arrived, the fire was completely out of control," he said.

"Of course, the conditions were ripe for a big fire," the governor said. "It is dry as a tinderbox in the Sandhills, and the wind is blowing hard. The fire was practically impossible to stop."

He said it is time both state and federal governments "give renewed attention" to methods of protecting forests and other natural developments.

2 Major Changes In Park Budget Recommended By Advisory Board

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The Parks and Recreation Advisory Board Thursday recommended two major changes in the Park Department's $1,262,265 capital improvements budget to be presented to the City Council.

First, the board recommended the allocation of $100,000, rather than the $525,000 included in the preliminary budget, toward the construction of a multi-purpose recreation center.

The board said that a determination on whether to build one central facility or several regional centers will depend, in part, on the results of a National Recreation Association study to be made public early next year.

If the council approves the $100,000 request, a recommendation will be made to set aside the money until a decision is made, according to the board.

Second, the board advised that the $100,000 included in the preliminary budget for an instructional pool at Woods Park be allocated for a neighborhood swimming pool in the Belmont area.

Bob Dula, city recreation superintendent, said that present population figures, projected growth and the distance to other pools from Belmont illustrate a need for a pool in that area.

The board recommended approval of the rest of the budget, as explained by Parks and Recreation Director James Ager, but recommended that low priority ratings be given to new rest rooms in Cooper, Pentzer and Roberts Parks.

and a proposed paved terrace overlooking the rose garden in Woods Park.

A recommendation was also made to discontinue Park Department subsidies to the summer ice skating program at Pershing Auditorium.

Dula said that auditorium receipts show that interest in summer ice skating in the city has dropped.

The board said that funds should instead be spent on improving winter ice skating facilities.

A resolution was passed affirming the need for the National Recreation Association's study of recreational facilities in Lincoln.

The board agreed to seriously consider any recommendations resulting from the study.

WILKINS CASE TO 12

No Fingerprints Taken Off Gun

... ROWE 'WHITE NIGGER'

Hayneville, Ala. (P)—Ku Klux Klansman Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr.'s night-rider murder case went to a Lowndes County jury Thursday, but after more than four hours' deliberation the panel was unable to agree and was sent to bed for the night.

Wilkins is charged with the shooting death of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, a white civil rights worker from Detroit and the mother of five children.

The jury of 12 white men will resume its deliberation at 9 a.m. Friday.

In closing arguments, both the prosecution and the defense announced Mrs. Liuzzo's civil rights aims. She was killed while ferrying marchers from Montgomery to Selma after a massive demonstration.

"I don't agree with it," Circuit Solicitor Arthur E. Gamble Jr., the prosecutor, told the jury of 12 white men. "It's repugnant to me. But she had a right to be here. She had a right to be here without being shot down in the middle of the night."

"This was a cold-blooded middle-of-the-night killing."

The stocky, crew-cut Wilkins did not take the witness stand.

At 4:55 p.m. the jury had returned to the courtroom to ask the judge if they were limited to a charge of first-degree murder or if they could find the defendant guilty of a lesser charge.

Circuit Judge T. Werth Thagard repeated his instructions that included possible verdicts of second-degree murder and manslaughter. Speaking for the jury was Clifford McMurphee, a farmer who earlier raised a question about testimony on fingerprints.

Wilkins was indicted on a first-degree murder charge, for which there are only two penalties—life imprisonment or death.

Murphy Sweats

Klan defense attorney Matt H. Murphy Jr., in a shouting, arm-waving, body-bending summation that left him dripping perspiration, told the jury:

"There has been pressure brought to bear against right-wing groups in this country... You heard what the President of the United States said... that these men were Klansmen, that they struck at night and killed this woman... Yes, there was tremendous pressure...

"I'm proud to be a white man and I stand for white supremacy, not for black supremacy. When white people join up with them (Negroes), they become white niggers..."

"God didn't intend us to mix with the black race. I don't care what Lyndon Baines Johnson says. What in God's name are they trying to overcome? God's law itself?"

'Liar, Viper, White Nigger'

Murphy attacked the prosecution's chief witness, and FBI informer planted within the Klan. Gary Thomas Rowe, 34, Murphy called him "a liar, a perjurer... as treacherous as a rattlesnake and viper... He's sold his soul for a little bit of gold... purporting himself to be a white man and worse than a white nigger..."

Murphy also called attention to the failure of FBI witnesses to produce fingerprints from a .38-caliber pistol identified in testimony as the murder weapon.

"Whose fingerprints were on that gun?" he asked.

"That's the first question that should have been asked." Two FBI agents said no attempt was made to lift prints from the weapon. In Washington, the FBI declined comment on this.

Juror Asks

Before the defense opened a brief presentation of testimony from six witnesses, McMurphee asked in court whether there were fingerprints on the revolver.

Rowe had testified that the gun belonged to Wilkins fellow Klansman, Eugene Thomas, from whom it was recovered after the slaying. But the FBI informer said the weapon was used by Wilkins to put a bullet into Mrs. Liuzzo's brain.

FBI Agent Edward Lahey, recalled by the state, testified that when he took the .38 from Thomas' home the day after the slaying, he did not examine it for prints.

War Fund Streaks 88-3; Senators Cry Blackjack

Washington (P)—Propelled by the top leaders in both parties, President Johnson's $700-million Viet Nam war fund bill crashed through the Senate Thursday amid cries of blackjack tactics.

The Senate passed the bill by a roll call vote of 88 to 3 after a fixed five-hour period of furious debate.

Senator after senator served notice that his vote for the money bill was not to be construed as blank check endorsement for policies that might bog this country down in large-scale land warfare in Asia.

24 Hours

Senate approval of the measure came 24 hours after the House whipped it through by a vote of 408 to 7, and a little over 48 hours after Johnson asked for its passage "at the earliest possible moment."

Johnson plans to sign it at 7:15 a.m. CST Friday, the White House said.

Voting against it in the Senate were Sens. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, and Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis. All seven House votes against the bill were cast by Democrats.

The bill was passed in the Senate with the votes of 57 Democrats and 31 Republicans. There were 8 Democratic and 1 Republican absentees.

'Undeclared War'

Morse who led the opposition, said the bill gives Johnson far more than a $700 million appropriation. Morse contended it gives the President authority to wage undeclared war, and he predicted it will be followed by the sending of thousands more troops to Viet Nam.

"The President is using this bill," Morse said, "as a vehicle for getting a vote of confidence for his policies in Viet Nam out of congress."

Scolding at senators who argued otherwise, Morse said: "Who do they think they're kidding? Not the American people."

The blackjack cry was raised by Gruening, who said he approved of Johnson's policies in the Dominican Republic uprising but said the President's message asking for the Viet Nam fund "sought to give the clear impression that a vote against this appropriation is a vote in aid of communism."

"This implication is totally unwarranted," Gruening said.

MARTIN... an old trade has new targets in Pine Ridge country.

Pine Ridge Archery Boom Caused By Single Bowman

By DEAN TERRILL
Star Staff Writer

Chadron — They say there were three bowmen hereabouts when Hollie Martin came along to become No. 4; 1½ years later there are "well over 100."

The custom arrow maker scored his biggest bullseye when he settled in this hunting hotspot. He promoted all-around archery as he has known it for over 25 years—and for the first time turned his own bow to live game.

"I've been in tournaments for decades, but just this winter learned what a thrill it is to take that first deer with a bow," said the veteran sportsman, 57.

Though there's "much more hunting than killing," the surrounding Pine Ridge country in season has archers seeking deer, wild turkeys, jackrabbits, pheasants, antelope, coyotes and even bobcats. Most of the bowmen headquarter in the colorful Chadron shop where a centuries-old trade continues.

Arrows by the hundred have come from the one-man shop since the ex-Californian came to this state and "got serious" about archery four years ago. A basement in Long Pine had been his first full-time operation after years of turning out tackle on a more limited basis.

Priding himself on his hand craftsmanship Martin (Mar-Bow Archery Co.) is one of the few commercial arrow makers in the state. The current archery revival has him shipping to several Nebraska outlets and three surrounding states.

Competition

When they weren't teaching dance lessons through the years, he and wife Iva were apt as not to be trying their arrows in competition. She won a national championship in 1951 in the w and event, and his ribbons include a 1948 Southern California clout championship.

Mar-Bow now owns the original equipment for extruding and processing aluminum arrow shafts. It also claims the only precision scale of its type in the Midwest — one matching arrows to within five grains.

"The most important factor in price is matching, and our best grade cedar arrows are matched to within .0020 inches for deflection," he noted.

Dance Caller Too

Also a square dance caller, Martin is nearly as well known for this activity as for his growing number of archery exhibitions. He is a sparkplug of the Chadron Archers, whose 45 club members accounted for most of some 30 deer dropped in the area last season.

Martin's own kill was a mule doe, small but "just big enough to make me anxious for that big buck next year."

Personnel Service Proposal Killed 5-2

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Legislation proposing to establish a state personnel service was killed Thursday on a 5-2 vote of the Unicameral's Government and Military Affairs Committee.

Chairman Jerome Warner of Waverly said the committee will recommend instead a continuing interim study of personnel practices and possible future legislation.

Advanced to the floor on a 6-1 vote was LB172, a bill which would create a new Department of Revenue.

Marvel's Bills

Both bills were among a trio of governmental reorganization proposals laid before the Legislature by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings.

The third measure, LB173, establishing a new Department of Administrative Services, is on the floor awaiting debate.

Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance has requested the attorney general study the bill, along with 20 proposed committee amendments, before floor discussion begins.

To Talk With Governor

Gerdes said he will also confer with Gov. Frank Morrison to ascertain his views on the amended bill.

"It may need some clarifications," Gerdes said. The personnel services bill, LB174, "would be more feasible after a Department of Administrative Services is established," Warner noted.

Poor Mechanics

"The committee believes that the bill has a great deal of merit, in principle, but it did not believe the mechanics of the bill are feasible at this time."

"It would not be possible to put together a satisfactory bill yet this session, so we will recommend an interim study."

All information accumulated by the committee and by a previous study committee will be available for the recommended continuing investigation, Warner pointed out.

Gained Great Deal

"Thus, we have gained a great deal," he suggested. "The areas of conflict have been identified, and we can begin to iron these things out."

A number of executive officials had raised serious questions about a number of provisions in LB174.

LB172 would centralize revenue administrative functions and controls within a new state agency.

In other action, the committee advanced to the floor LB-101, authorizing cities and counties to issue bonds for street and highway construction, then use state gasoline tax funds to retire the debt.

Steel Vote Survived By Labor

London (P)—The House of Commons approved the Labor government's plans to nationalize the bulk of the British steel industry, by a margin of four votes Thursday night.

Laborite roars filled the Commons when the vote was announced as 310-306. The Liberal Party cast its 10 votes against the government.

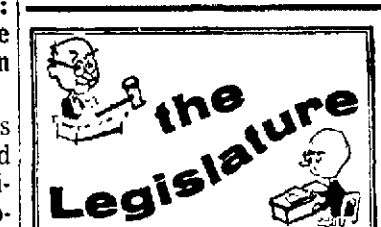

The Laborite victory was achieved with the help of ailing members brought from their sickbeds by ambulance. Others flew back from places as distant as San Francisco and Calcutta to swell their party's totals.

The vote was a trial run to test parliamentary opinion on a government white paper outlining plans to nationalize 90% of British steel—the 13 largest companies plus 1 already in government ownership.

The steel bill itself will be introduced later this spring, although one Labor rebel announced he would vote against it if it followed the white paper's ideas.

OAS OKs Hemispheric Dominican Military Role

Washington 7—The Organization of American States committed itself early Thursday to a military role in the Dominican Republic but the how and when of this historic step remained obscure Thursday night.

Long, acrimonious debate within the OAS preceded the decision to join U.S. forces in the effort to restore order and bar a Communist power seizure in the revolt-racked little Caribbean nation.

The step provoked denunciation from Communist voices in the United Nations who argued that only the U.N. has the right to undertake such a role. And it sparked leftist demonstrations against the United States in several Latin American countries.

Opposition within the OAS was led by Mexico, Uruguay, Chile, Peru and Ecuador, and these nations cast the five negative votes on the final roll call.

14 Minimum
Brazil, Costa Rica, Haiti and Colombia were the most active supporters of the resolution originally offered by the United States. But 10 other nations joined them to provide

A motion by Venezuela to have the Latin American forces replace all the U.S. troops, now numbering over 19,000, was defeated. It is expected that as units from other countries arrive some U.S. detachments will be moved out.

Although the plan got the bare 14 votes needed for approval, Latin Americans said the fact it was adopted at all represents a sensational change of thinking among Latin American Republics, some of which have steadfastly refused in the past to take any action against the Communist regime in Cuba. The opponents said they based their opposition on Latin America's long-cherished principle of nonintervention of any kind, under any circumstances.

Costa Rica's Ambassador Gonzalo Fazio may have summarized the new thinking when he told the special inter-American conference of the OAS here early Thursday. "We cannot be guided by rules of bygone days, but must adopt the mechanism of Vapor leaking from a hair spray can was ignited by a hot water heater in the home and exploded, firemen said.

•Maytag Dividend
Newton, Iowa (UPI)—The board of directors of the Maytag Co. declared a regular quarterly dividend of 40 cents. The dividend is payable June 15 to shareholders of record at the close of business June 1, the board said.

Washington 7—An unexpected increase in teen-agers seeking jobs boosted the nation's unemployment rate to 4.9% in April, foreshadowing a critical jobless youth problem when schools let out for the summer.

The April jobless rate was two-tenths of one per cent over the March figure of 4.7%, the lowest in some seven years.

Despite the boost in teen-age unemployment, the actual number of jobless persons fell 200,000 to a total of 3,552,000. At the same time total civilian employment rose nearly 1 million to 71 million in April.

The rise in the jobless rate was due to an increase of about 700,000 in the civilian labor force.

Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the rise in youth unemployment was largely due to the fact that the monthly survey was taken during the Easter vacation week when many school-age youngsters are seeking temporary jobs.

The teen-age jobless rate jumped from 13.9% to 15.2%, which Goldstein described as a statistically significant change.

Goldstein said the over-all employment situation, which has been steadily improving for the past year, was basically unchanged.

Saigon, Viet Nam (U)—Three more battalions and supporting units of U.S. Marines—more than 4,000 men—landed in South Viet Nam Friday. They rode landing craft onto a remote beach 340 miles northeast of Saigon to secure an area where a new combat air base is to be built.

U.S. jet squadrons rounded out three months of raids on North Viet Nam. Thursday with a spectacular bombing of the Phu Van ammunition complex. A spokesman said direct hit blew up four bunkers and four others were left burning.

In Saigon, dissolution of South Viet Nam's armed forces council strengthened the hand of Premier Phan Huy Quat's U.S.-backed government. Generals and colonels making up the council voted themselves to break it up, ending 18 months of direct control or indirect supervision of political affairs by the military.

Stability For Victory
Governmental stability had been termed by Saigon and Washington authorities a prerequisite for victory in the war against the Viet Cong. Quat's regime has quietly attained a greater stability than that of any of his predecessors.

In keeping with the exit of the armed forces council, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu told newsmen he intended to resign as defense minister.

Coincidentally, high U.S. officers were voicing increasing optimism about the trend of the war.

With a click-check here and a click-check there, the South American alibi darts about in black caves with the greatest of ease.

Marine Cpl. Russell Rowe of Zion, Ill., shown with fiancée Dora Compostella wrote her on the eve of his landing in the Dominican Republic. "Now is my chance to do something for my country." The letter hadn't reached her yet last Friday when Rowe was trapped in a machine gun ambush and wounded in both arms, both legs and abdomen. Now he is in Washington's Walter Reed Hospital in critical condition with both legs amputated.

Edwards Is Tuberculosis Unit President

William T. Edwards was named president of the Lancaster County Tuberculosis Association for 1963-66.

Other officers are Mark Seacrest and Mrs. Paul Peterson, first and second vice presidents, respectively; Walter E. Nolte, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Toren, secretary; Mrs. Richard Garlinghouse, representative director and Mrs. Arthur L. Smith Sr., alternate representative director.

Loren Andrews, Morgan Batten and Mrs. Arthur L. Smith Sr. were re-elected to the board of directors for three-year terms. Harold Osborn and Mrs. Quentin Bradley, Lloyd Tenney and Richard Toren were also named to three-year terms on the board.

Mrs. L. R. Versaw was elected to a two-year board term.

The TV association which is solely supported by Christmas seals, received $20,800 from its 1964 drive, according to the annual report.

Dr. Gilbert Saliba, on loan to the Omaha-Douglas County Health Department from the U.S. Public Health communicable disease center in Kansas City, talked about respiratory infections in Omaha school children at the annual meeting Thursday.

Kathleen Costello Heads Freshman Honorary At NU

Kathleen Costello of Hastings was elected president of Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary for freshmen women, at the organization's initiation banquet Thursday evening at the University of Nebraska.

Other new officers include Deanne Groetzing of Grand Island, vice president; Barbara Bitney of Sidney, secretary; Judy Heath of Cody, treasurer, and Nancy Fritzel of Kimball, historian.

Speaker at the Nebraska Union banquet was Miss Betty Jeanne Holcomb, Lancaster County election commissioner.

Malone Area Clean-Up Drive Slated Saturday

The first of several hoped-for neighborhood clean-up campaigns is scheduled for this weekend. It was announced Thursday.

Joe Wallace of the U. S. Public Health Service told a joint meeting of the directors of the Better Lincoln Committee and the committee's housing council that residents will clear their property of trash, rubbish and other unused items.

Trucks contracted for by the city will haul the refuse away on Saturday, Wallace said.

He said that Malone area residents have organized a neighborhood council to promote this type of program, designed to combat health hazards by keeping neighborhoods clean.

Three neighborhood councils have been organized so far, according to Wallace.

The public health service encourages local participation, Wallace told the committee, and added that the neighborhood action programs are a result of an environmental health study now being undertaken in the city.

Wallace made a presentation of the study to the joint meeting.

Volunteered to Assist
Better Lincoln Committee executive director Tom Carroll announced that the committee has volunteered to assist City-County Planning Director Douglas Brogden in developing a community program for finding housing for families displaced by public action.

Carroll said that questionnaires will be sent to other cities in the area requesting information on how to develop a successful displaced persons program.

Man Handed 3-Year Term In Shooting

Roy E. Quinn, found guilty of shooting with intent to kill, wound, or maim, a 42-year-old woman who is now his wife, was sentenced Thursday to three years in the Nebraska Penal Complex by Judge Elmer Scheele.

Quinn, 48, of 3713 No. 49th, gave notice of appeal of his case to the Supreme Court and posted a $3,500 bond, and Judge Scheele suspended execution of sentence for one month.

A District Court jury on March 9 found Quinn guilty of shooting Mrs. Twila R. Quincy Oct. 27. He married Mrs. Quincy in December.

He was acquitted of a similar charge in connection with allegedly shooting at Claude D. Lovelace, 30, of 2611 Y

Honeymooning Heiress Feared Lost In Ocean

... Ex-Omahan Daughter Of Former U.P. Head

Newport Beach, Calif. (UPI)—A honeymooning 61-year-old railroad heiress wed Monday to a superior court judge apparently fell into the ocean Thursday from a cabin cruiser and was feared drowned, the Coast Guard reported.

A 95-foot Coast Guard cutter, two helicopters and two planes searched fruitlessly for Mrs. Eileen Yager, daughter of the late William M. Jeffers of Omaha and Los Angeles. Jeffers was former president of Union Pacific Railroad.

Mrs. Yager apparently did not have a life preserver.

Superior Judge Thomas Yager, 47, told police his wife disappeared from the bridge of the 36-foot "Carefree" while he was below deck for about a half hour Thursday morning.

The couple was alone on the cabin cruiser on a 26-mile cruise from Avalon on Catalina Island to Newport Beach on the mainland.

Yager circled for an hour before hastening to this ocean resort to seek help.

"This has been the most tragic day of my life," Yager told newsmen after talking with police. "I just don't want to say anything."

"Looks Like Accident" Det. Tony Valenti said "it looks like an accident as far as we can tell." He said police would have no further part in the case.

Valenti said his conversation with Yager was an "interview" to gather facts and did not constitute a formal police interrogation.

Yager said the cruiser, chartered by the honeymooners, had a radio but that it did not work.

The Coast Guard said that as part of any routine inquiry, facts gathered would go to the Marine inspection office for determination of circumstances.

Valenti said he saw no reason to talk further with Yager, whose bride inherited a half million dollars from her father.

Yager told him he had been

Law Enforcement Meeting Slated For May 16-18

Col. Dan Casey of the State Safety Patrol announced Thursday that the regional conference of the north central region of the International Association of Chiefs of Police will be held in Omaha May 16-18.

He said state police and highway patrol officers from 14 states and Canada will participate in the conference, aimed at improving law enforcement on the state level.

Speakers representing Nebraska will include Gov. Frank Morrison and Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer.

strong winds during the morning.

Originally, the Yagers planned to honeymoon in Honolulu but changed their minds and decided on spending their time in the Avalon and Newport Beach areas.

Friends said Yager had courted the former Miss Jeffers for about one year prior to their marriage. They took out a marriage license one week ago and were wed Monday by James Francis Cardinal McIntyre at his residence. It was the first marriage for each.

Best man for Yager was former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, who appointed him judge in 1958. Yager, who since won election to the post, had been Knight's clemency secretary.

Mrs. Yager long had been active in social and civic affairs in Pasadena and Los Angeles. She had built the Shamrock cottage, her home, on the grounds of the Huntington Sheraton Hotel.

The channel where the accident occurred is one of the most heavily traveled boating areas on the Pacific shoreline.

Body Of Midland Student Found In Fremont Lakes

Fremont (AP)—The body of a 19-year-old Midland College student was recovered from one of the Fremont State Lakes Thursday evening. He had disappeared in the afternoon while attempting to swim across the lake.

The victim, Allen R. Grindvold, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Grindvold of Hartington.

A scuba diver found the body in water 18 feet deep.

David Damp, 24, of Fremont, said he saw the swimmer go under and attempted to rescue him. He made two dives in an attempt to locate the body and swam about the area for about 20 minutes without success. Water rescue personnel, including scuba divers were called by the Fire Department and they began sweeping the area.

Iowans Are Resentenced To Fix Error

Omaha (AP)—District Judge John E. Murphy re-sentenced two Sioux City, Iowa, men to the Nebraska Penitentiary Thursday, correcting an error made nine years ago.

The late District Judge L. Ross Newkirk sentenced Robert R. Draper and Herbert D. Arioso, to indefinite terms of six to nine years in prison after they pleaded guilty to a gas station robbery in September, 1956.

The state Supreme Court ruled recently that it was erroneous to sentence the men to indefinite terms. The ruling would apply in other crimes such as rape, murder and manslaughter. The court held however, that if the men did not apply for a correction, they would have to serve the maximum of nine years.

Draper, now 30, and Arioso, now 31, applied for and were granted a correction. Judge Murphy sentenced them to definite terms of nine years. They will be released next year.

The two were paroled in November 1959.

During 25 years of work, Dr. Kikichiro Nakaya, a physics professor at Hokkaido University, Japan, and his colleagues succeeded in duplicating in a cold chamber all the natural types of snow crystals.

Peruvian Students Visiting Nebraska

Eleven Peruvian students arrived in Lincoln Thursday to begin a five-day stay at the University of Nebraska.

The students will spend time on campus visiting student organizations, classrooms and with faculty.

Friday the students will meet with Cyril Bish, Lancaster County Extension Agent, and tour a farm in Lancaster County. They will also be visiting in private homes.

After attending Ivy Day ceremonies Saturday morning, the students will have the opportunity to attend All Sports Day and watch the varsity intrasquad game as guests of the department of athletics.

Saturday afternoon

Monday they will visit the Unicameral and Governor Morrison.

Before coming to Nebraska they were in Rochester, N.Y., and Kansas City. They will also visit Washington, D.C.

escort-interpreters for the students.

FOUR MARINES DIE IN SKIRMISH

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (AP)—Gunfire crackled again in Santo Domingo Thursday despite a cease-fire bringing death to four U. S. Marines and wounding three other American servicemen.

Two Marines were released after being captured by Dominican rebels.

Three Marines were killed in a fierce encounter in the heart of the capital's rebel territory. Two others were wounded in the clash, one of whom died later after he was taken to the aircraft carrier Boxer, U.S. sources said.

Wrong Turn

The U.S. command said the fighting erupted after a Marine patrol took a wrong turn. The rebels at first charged a cease-fire violation, then said they believed the story of the wrong turn.

In separate incidents, snipers wounded two U.S. paratroopers and hit a helicopter, wounding the pilot in the legs.

The rebels released the two captured Marines to the Organization of American States (OAS) commission, which handed them over immediately to U.S. authorities.

They were not allowed to be interviewed, but the chief of the U.S. Peace Corps mission in Santo Domingo, Robert Satin, 33, of Kalamazoo, Mich., said the two had received one meal of rice and beans during their brief captivity.

Story Believed

Satin also quoted Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, rebel-elected provisional president, as saying he believed the story of wandering into rebel territory accidentally.

A U.S. military spokesman said the Marine patrol took wrong turn while operating near the east-west corridor set up to ferry supplies to the international zone for refugees. He said unfamiliarity with the Dominican capital caused the Marines to go into rebel territory instead of returning to their own lines.

Washington announced the U.S. toll in the 13-day-old Dominican strife at 10 dead, one missing and 58 wounded.

The captured Marines were shown to newsmen as rebels took a television tape of them. They identified themselves as Pvt. Rueben Garcia, 23, of New York City, and Pvt. Darrell J. Southwell, 21, of Mason, Mich.

Rev. Gaston, 62, Is Dead; Former Tabitha Chaplain

Ames—The Rev. Robert E. Gaston, 62, pastor of the Resurrection Lutheran Church of Ames, died Thursday in Lin. Co.

He came to Ames in 1962 after serving four years as the chaplain at Tabitha Home in Lincoln. He has also served at the United Lutheran Churches of York and McCool Junction from 1949-1953.

A native of Atchison, Kan., the Rev. Mr. Gaston served churches at Ottawa, Bendena and Eureka for 32 years in his home state before coming to Nebraska.

He had been blind since 1951.

The Rev. Mr. Gaston graduated from Midland College and the Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary of Maywood, Ill.

Survivors include one son, Robert Jr. of Wellman, Iowa, two sisters and one grandson.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Resurrection Lutheran Church in Bendena, Kan. Burial will be near Bendena.

Dreams Up In Smoke

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One might almost think that nature was striking back at man in the great Halsey Forest in central Nebraska. The 95,110 acres of forest land between the Middle Loup and Dismal Rivers was never intended to be as nature laid out Nebraska. The stately conifers of Halsey have the rolling Sandhills as their environment and the Sandhills were made for grass country.

But just prior to the turn of the century, a man named Charles Edwin Bessey joined the faculty of the University of Nebraska. Professor Bessey noticed that there was always good moisture just a few inches below the surface of the ground in the Sandhills area. He urged the planting of trees there and from his early efforts was born the Halsey National Forest, largest man-made forest in the world. The first seedlings were planted in Halsey in 1902. But disaster struck in 1910 when the entire forest was burned to the ground.

Man fought back, however, and in the years since 1910, the dream of Professor Bessey has been brought to magnificent reality. Unfortunately, nature has not given up, either, in what seems like her determination to keep the Sandhills treeless. A lightning storm has struck the forest with fury, burning out approximately one-third of the beautiful evergreens.

Perhaps as many as 5 million trees are now only black sticks in the ground. The pine and grass-covered ground has been turned an ashen grey and no cattle will graze on that pasture this year. As said by Gov. Frank Morrison, 60 years of trees have been destroyed in a few hours.

Anyone who has visited Halsey knows the meaning of what has happened there. Perhaps you have climbed the seemingly endless stairs that lead to the top of the ranger observation post in the heart of the forest. And from that vantage point you looked out upon a part of mankind's most valuable assets—his timberland. The forest, of course, is a thing of beauty, a deep carpet of green from a distance and an intimate place of solace when tramped on foot. It is vast but never lonely and it is quiet but with many things to tell you. It speaks in soft whispering tones of gentle breezes and tremendous winds. It speaks with pride of the sun and rain and the nourishment of the earth which gives it life.

Need New Pardon Board

Lincoln Senator John Knight has a cause with merit in his proposed bill allowing for a change in the makeup of the board of pardons. Senator Knight has acted to have the bill, killed in committee, revived on the floor of the Legislature.

The bill would amend the constitution to permit the Legislature to establish by law the kind of pardon board it wanted. Now, the constitution provides the board shall consist of the governor, attorney general and secretary of state.

It should be noted that members of this board through the years have consistently favored a change. What they advocate and what would be intended under the proposed change is a more professional board membership.

Mariner 4 Reports

We now have quite a number of satellites and space traveling gadgets sailing around in the ether. One of the most talkative of them is Mariner 4.

This space craft was fired off the pad last November and is currently making good time on its way to Mars. It continues to give us very reassuring reports.

One thing interesting it has found is that the road to Mars is dustier than the road to Venus. In 109 days of travel it has been hit 95 times by cosmic dust particles. Its Venus-bound predecessor received only two hits in the same amount of travel.

Radiation 109 days out is comfortably minute. Only 5 roentgens penetrate the capsule and reach the delicate recording instruments. This means that humans can make the trip without fear that they will

It's a testimonial to the miracle of life, a gift to humanity that asks nothing in return but our understanding and appreciation. The forest is a place of peace and quiet and beauty for thousands of visitors every year. Some may only drive through the area, drinking in the view and the pungent aroma of pine. Others take the time to walk at least a little ways into an inviting grove of trees, to listen to the birds and sit a little while in the afternoon shade. Little children might gather pine cones or chase a young rabbit as it darts among the shadows. Still others will settle down for overnight camping or a stay of some days, greatly anticipating the unhurried and unpressured days that are an integral part of timberlands.

In such a setting, you witness the steady evolution in the character of the land, the working of one year upon another in a never-ending transformation. In such a setting you find the freedom of mind and body that is the epitome of man's existence. Under a blue sky in a grassed clearing among the evergreens, there are no restraints, no limitations and no conflicts.

There at that time and place, you are fully whatever you have come to be—a man of faith or a man of disbelief, a man of kindness or a man of cruelty, a man of love or a man of hate, a man of tolerance or a man of prejudice. There are no outside factors to influence you, no forces to play upon your convictions or your aspirations.

It is no wonder so many people visit Halsey and no wonder that they come away as fresh and clean as the pine-scented air they breathed there. The thought of the burned-out acreage in the forest is a disheartening one but it is the end of nothing. A new beginning will be made and a new forest will spring from the 15 million seedlings that are already on hand as a result of the wise conservation practices of the National Forest Service. Nebraska has a great timber heritage and would never even think of abandoning it.

Despite the heavy fire loss, most of Halsey was saved from the devastating flames, for which we owe a debt of gratitude to a great many people. And the day will come again when the whole 95,110 acres of Halsey Forest are an open and rewarding invitation to all the people of this land.

This board must consider vital questions in the fields of rehabilitation and incarceration. In determining the freedom or imprisonment of convicted law-breakers, the board needs an insight into the science of human behavior and a knowledge of the principles of our system of punishment.

But with the board as it is now constituted, there can be no such knowledge because the three officials involved simply are not so qualified. This they all know and it is no discredit to them, of course. But the fact is that the board should be composed of men with certain pre-determined qualifications and the bill sponsored by Senator Knight would permit this to be done. With this bill, Nebraska could substantially improve its overall penal system.

light up like a neon sign. And absorbing no more than 5 roentgens should mean no bad after effects at all. We are glad to know that, but not to the point of being selected to make such a trip.

A third interesting finding is that the earth does not have any noticeable tail like a comet. There may be a solar wind of electrically charged particles which wraps itself around the earth in what we now call the Van Allen belt, but it is not flapping out behind us as we race through space.

The non-scientific mind has never pictured the world looking like a comet though a few modern scientific minds contemplated that prospect. But now we are reasonably assured that it isn't so. So that is a triumph of imagination over scientific thought.

The Apathetic Public

The editorial desk receives a wide variety of visitors, mostly good ones, thoughtful and public spirited.

Two of the most outstanding of this good sort appeared the other day, shook hands warmly, and forthwith stated clearly what they had to say. They were many, articulate and gave the impression of being very useful citizens—the sort one would expect to find in upper level employment. One we guessed was a year or two past 35, the other younger, perhaps 21 or 22.

Only by what they said could one guess that they had had misfortune. Their skills had lost their usefulness. They had become unemployed. They didn't like it that way. They were building a new life, learning to get back into new fields.

They were students at Lincoln's Agribusiness school, an institution opened last fall at 630 North 48th. The school operates under the federal manpower retraining program. Some two years ago a similar school was started in Omaha after an embarrassing hassle over whether the state would participate. It finally did. Many in Nebraska didn't feel it had a retraining problem.

How wrong! The Lincoln school which is hardly more than six months old has had 500 enrollees, about half of whom have completed their retraining and are back in good employment.

"This is an excellent school," said the older student. "I am learning to be a grain elevator operator. I have already had on the job training at three Nebraska elevators. It won't be long now until I'll be ready to run one, well, I owe an immense amount to school." The younger man nodded enthusiastic approval.

What studies are offered? Well to name a few there are car parts department management, course in fertilizers, pesticides, insecticides and herbicides, knowledge of the materials and skills in field use. One can learn to operate a filling station and any number of other things.

So what was the complaint of the two students? Simply this. The public never visits it, never evaluates it and so far has shown no interest. Prospective employers look at the badges worn by the graduates and ask guardedly, what are those things?

"You Fellows Want To Get Into The Ball Game Or Sit In The Grandstands?"

U.S. Is Violating Its Commitments

WASHINGTON—It was at 11:01 p.m., May 7, twenty years ago today, that the giant German war machine ground to a complete stop with the formal cessation of hostilities. The war in Europe had come to an end.

At the very moment the cease-fire was being signed, allied statesmen, meeting in San Francisco, were drawing up another document, calculated to preserve the future peace of the world.

During most of the twenty years that have passed, the United Nations has done an amazingly good job. Adlai Stevenson once totaled up 22 cases where the UN had stepped in to negotiate cease-fires; and some diplomats contend that had the UN been in existence at the time of the Sarajevo assassination in 1914 there would have been no World War I. Austro-Hungary and Czarist Russia would have been persuaded to sit down at the conference table instead of mobilizing their armies.

Wars, or the preparation for wars, seem to come in twenty-year cycles. And this week, twenty years after the end of World War II, many diplomats believe the United States is nearer to the brink of major hostilities in the Far East than at any time since 1945.

How then do we guard against further drift into world war? In general by doing two things:

1. Building up the machinery of peace by using it ourselves and by encouraging others to use it.
2. Building goodwill and friends so that a potential enemy will know that, if attacked, we will not stand alone.

How have we done this? The answer is that we haven't. We have alienated friends and allies from Europe to Asia, and the United Nations has become so deadlocked over a financial argument that it has never been so paralyzed.

This is a condition inherited by President Johnson, and when it was explained to him that the United States was quarreling with France and Russia over the payment of $60,000,000 dues, he exclaimed, "We've got more than that invested in it ourselves."

Nevertheless the paralysis continues. And we have contributed to it by ignoring the United Nations in our war over Viet Nam. The UN charter provides that when a nation becomes the aggressor, the matter is to be submitted to the United Nations. Instead we have declared North Viet Nam an aggressor on our own, and have undertaken to bomb it almost daily in retaliation.

True, Russia would have vetoed us in the Security Council, but we would have strengthened our position and the UN by not ignoring its peace machinery.

If President Johnson had waited two hours to confer with the OAS before landing Marines in the Dominican Republic, he would have had OAS support and thus avoided a wave of indignation all over Latin America. Copyright, 1965, By Bell-McClure Synd.

Johnson Policy Causes Disquiet

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has run into a Senate backfire on his apparent effort to give his request for more military funds the color of a vote of confidence in his new foreign policy directions.

The Senate will give him the extra money, $700 million, for the military operations in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. Congress always follows the flag when it is being carried into combat.

It was, therefore, not the request but the propaganda trappings with which the President surrounded it that provoked a lively hour of debate. These included an unusual briefing of members of Congress, with reporters and cameras present, at which the President spoke for 40 minutes, and an eloquent special message conveying the money request to the Hill.

Senators who felt obliged to question the implications of what they were being asked to do explain, first, that the President could get the money simply by transferring defense funds already appropriated. They refuse to consider a fund request as a substitute for full debate on the policy it implements.

The debate crossed party lines and included various shades of thought about what is going on and its wisdom or lack of it. Participants were Sens. Jacob Javits, Hugh Scott and George Aiken, Republicans, and Joseph Clark, Frank Church and Ernest Gruening, Democrats.

It may or may not die down, but there is no question that it reflects a certain disquiet in the Senate which in turn echoes the mail from home.

There has been a reluctance to bring that disquiet to the floor during the present furious pace of events. But it is becoming very clear that the President is taking steps he formerly did not contemplate.

If these new directions harden into policy, and they may not, he will have more trouble with his own party than with Republicans, though some of them also dissent. Democrats are not amused by resemblances to the Goldwater line, and their memories of how the Korean war became "Truman's war" are still with them.

Members who take the floor these days are aware, too, that the President is just naturally allergic to debate on proposals of any kind until he has them wrapped up to his satisfaction. He proved that when he was Senate majority leader and drove home his discontent to the obdurate in the many ways open to him.

By MONA B. PARKER

Typical Nebraska weather. That's the only way, says the Laurel Advocate, that anyone can explain how it could get up nearly to 90 degrees on Thursday, and have snow on the ground Sunday morning.

But the Hooker County Tribune does not despair. It is truly spring, it proclaims. "There is more golf talk than bowling talk over the downtown coffee cups now."

Farmers are busy around Scribner, according to Rustler columnist, Mrs. Roy Ahmndt. And so are their wives. One day they sow oats, brome, alfalfa and clover. The next they are out disking the fields, plowing, cutting stalks, and hauling manure.

"And there is always the endless round of chores, and with it, fences to fix. That is such a time-consuming task, but so is chasing animals that get out. So you pick the lesser of two evils and fix fence."

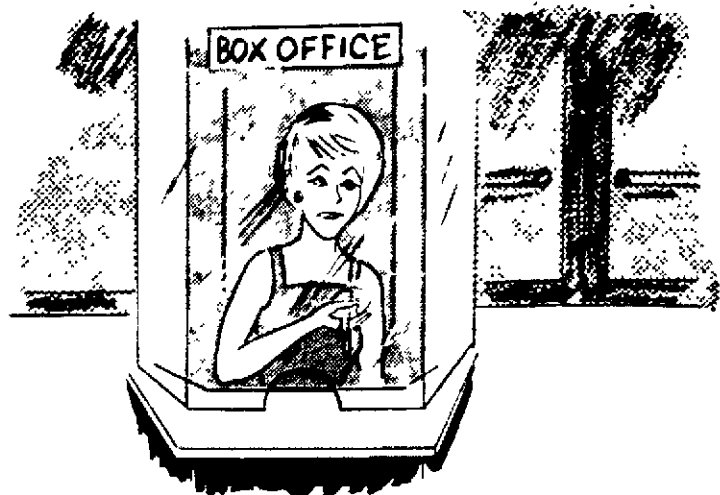

There is one Hastings householder who at least faces facts in practical fashion. He seems to be the only husband in captivity who makes a list of things he knows he won't do over the weekend.

Mrs. Eleanor Seberger of the Dawson County Herald got a chuckle out of a hostess gift that came her way, and let a small size skeleton out of the family closet in the telling.

For years now, she reveals, she has been using her girls' discarded white crew socks for dishcloths. If the foot is worn, she cuts it off, but otherwise just snips off the toe and slits the sock up the side. Clean, white, absorbent, they suit her needs to her satisfaction.

However, recently, they had company who lingered for five days. A gift package that came her way after their departure included "two boughten dishcloths." Mrs. Seberger says she probably "remained chagrined

Farmer-In-The-Field Days

One of the local theaters in York stresses variety, and this includes items checked on the way in by its patrons. The other evening a youngster left a prized possession there because she didn't want it to be damaged while she watched the movie. The obliging manager tended the item carefully—one slightly dripping pigeon egg, partially sealed with Scotch tape.

over my stupidity for as long as it took them to drive back to California. We homemakers get into our own little ways of doing things and never think of how a stranger might regard our habits.

"I suppose if I stayed in their home for a while, and was given an old sock to wash dishes with, I might think of dishcloths as a hostess gift, too!"

Noting a change in method of reporting grades, Art Brown recalled in the Friend Sentinel another time and another change and how one boy took advantage of it, to his later regret.

"Back when I was a high school freshman, my school changed to letters and used the old report cards, without explanations, for the first such report. When my Dad asked what 'E' meant, I told him 'Excellent.'"

When, a month later, his father learned the truth, Mr. Brown indicated that he "would rather not mention that."

Mrs. Joe Heitz of the Schuyler Sun sighed a few nostalgic sighs when the old Dublin school building was sold at auction, and perhaps when no one was looking shed a few tears for days that were gone, to return no more.

It wasn't just the story of a school closing, she wrote, but the end of an era that included neighborhood threshing rings, picking corn by hand, the close feeling of neighbor for neighbor and the big barn with its harness room and horses.

The little one-room schoolhouse is headed for oblivion, she concedes, and the hurt is more because of sentiment than logic. Her grandfather was one who helped to organize Dublin. Her dad attended the school and all his youngsters except one. Two of her aunts were among its teachers. Memory recalled the 45 to 50 pupils per winter, the old double seats that "made whispering and copying a breeze," the dinner pail and wash basin, "fore-runner of the modern deep freeze."

But the days are gone and they belong only to memory. Progress must be recognized as such, Mrs. Heitz explains, and the folly comes in trying to encompass fond memories into the realities of the present day. It just can't be done. Memories should be treasured only for what they are... memories.

Concludes Mrs. Heitz: "I'd much rather write an obituary of the times than to become a living fossil in the modern age."

Your Five Cents Worth

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing in publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

Losing Students

Lincoln, Neb.

If we had a few more like Senator Batchelder, we might have a university content with giving quality education and not such a bright "dollar-sign" gleam in the eye.

Many of our successful business executives, both men and women, might not have had extra schooling had their parents been heavily taxed so the state could lavish more housing, dorms, etc. on the campus.

I doubt that it is essential to a good education at any time. Nebraska is losing many students to colleges elsewhere for some reason. Our home-town weekly lists the names of all students going away to college in other states, and we have not heard of anyone's being sorry for his choice.

Truman Library

Lincoln, Neb.

There are six libraries named for presidents. Five have been established under act of Congress which makes them a part of the national archives and supplies the staffs and upkeep of the buildings. The respective presidents and their friends have given the buildings and the collections of papers and books to provide the working materials.

Each library reflects or will reflect the personality and interests of the founder. As an institution with a definite purpose, the Truman Library Institute at Independence is set up to study presidential leadership. Mr. Truman was profoundly impressed by the responsibilities that suddenly enveloped him. He felt that the public should know more about the unavoidable responsibilities that enshrouded that great office. He has tried to collect here not only the papers for his own administration but copies of papers of all the presidents. He induced Congress to pass legislation providing for more complete publication of presidential papers and important cabinet officials.

Mr. Truman is greatly concerned with that greatest of all problems, leadership, in every society and nation. Presidential leadership represents the consummate responsibility. Mr. Truman is trying to set up in the Truman Library Institute an endowment for scholarships and grants to study presidential leadership.

May 8 is Mr. Truman's 81st birthday. He has started a work of vision and deserves the support of his fellow citizens.

Plea For Training

Crete, Neb.

Following is an open letter to Governor Morrison: "It has come to the attention of our senior government class that a definite need exists for an increased effort on the part of the State of Nebraska in the area of vocational development of our youth. We feel there is an acute shortage of adequate facilities for the non-college-bound young person as sighted by us in a recent student-oriented investigation and discussion of job opportunities in Nebraska."

"We are of the opinion that Nebraska's potential lies with its youth, and not primarily in out-of-state resources. It appears not enough is being done by Nebraska to encourage and train that portion of the populace which is not interested in college. To alter this situation, we advocate the establishment of more institutions on the order of the Nebraska Vocational Technical School at Milford. There is a distinct problem of 'brick and mortar' and it is the fundamental problem in that it lies beneath other difficulties and can become the foundation to their solution.

"To stand still is to fall behind in the development of the citizens and leaders of tomorrow. We feel obligated to take an active part in the shaping of our future and the future of our state. "Your consideration of our opinion is of prime importance to the youth of this state and will be greatly appreciated."

Prompt Firemen

Denton, Neb.

I wish to thank the Southwest Fire District, volunteer firemen and neighbors for the prompt service they gave while extinguishing the fire at my farm on Saturday, May 1.

After reporting the fire to the fire district, it was just a few minutes until the first volunteer arrived, also the fire equipment. Their promptness prevented this fire from getting out of control. My thanks for a job well done.

7 ROTC Students Receive Special Awards

Seven University of Nebraska ROTC students were given special awards Thursday at the annual end-of-year federal inspection, parade and military ceremonies.

The Pershing Medal is awarded annually to the outstanding member of Pershing Rifles for soldierly bearing, general military efficiency and contribution to the Army ROTC at the university.

Other awards and their recipients:

Armed Forces Chemical Association Award—to John L. Deming of Lincoln (son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Deming of Lincoln, Neb.). The award is given to outstanding academic achievement in chemistry and military initiative.

Superior Cadet Award—to David A. Napobello, son of Major and Mrs. George Napobello of Omaha; Loren S. Rooderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rooderson of Emerson; Clifford H. Rader, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo O. Rader of Malcolm; and John Deming.

American Ordnance Association Gold Scholarship Key—to Lawrence H. Priest, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Priest of Lincoln (son of 50th). The award is made for displaying outstanding interest in all matters pertaining to ordnance, and a high academic performance.

The United States Army Association Award—to Thomas H. Grace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Grace of Kimball. The award is presented to the outstanding member of Pershing Rifles for soldierly bearing, general military efficiency and contribution to the Army ROTC at the university.

The annual inspecting officers were Col. Max Pitney of the University of Kansas; Major Arne Erickson of Pittsburg State College, Kansas; and Captain Peter Maurek of Leavenworth High School ROTC, Kansas.

Micro Lab

dieters: now, more than ever, you need

milk's vitality

Weight-watching diets can leave you low on energy. That's why milk, the vitality beverage, should be included in all your low-calorie meals. Fresh, whole milk helps you lose weight healthfully because it supplies the vitamins, minerals and protein you need daily. Milk also helps balance a meal... allows you to resist between-meal snacks.

It's important, too, that your daily diet include foods from all four of the basic food groups: Milk and milk products; meat, fish, poultry and eggs; vegetables and fruits; breads and cereals. Each of these food groups contributes necessary nutrients to protect your health. If you're trying to lose weight, reduce the portions but don't cut out any group.

Be sure to include regular daily exercise in your weight watching plan, too. For extreme cases, consult your doctor before you plan a drastic weight reduction program.

And remember, if you're counting calories, count milk in. It's nature's vitality drink!

Gerdes To Propose Study

Alliance Sen. George Gerdes told legislators Thursday that he will introduce a resolution urging an interim study of the problems of Nebraska's mentally and physically handicapped children.

He said such a study should touch all problems confronting the handicapped, but he said the study would put emphasis on ways to improve the education and training of the handicapped.

"After talking and visiting with officials in the Education Department's special education division, it's obvious that we have a great deal more to learn in this area," he said.

He said the findings of the interim study would lay the foundation for legislation to provide a broad state plan for educating and training handicapped youth.

Budget Unit Amends Recommended Appropriation For Ag Stations

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Budget Committee agreed Thursday to amend its recommended appropriation for the University of Nebraska's agricultural experiment station program, but would not disclose the amount of the increase.

Committee Chairman Richard Marvel said the amount would not be made known until it is reported to the floor of the Legislature.

Action came after an hour-long hearing with Dr. Herbert Kramer, director of experiment stations, and Dr. Joseph Soszynski, vice chancellor for finance.

The University contended it needed an additional $943,357 to carry out the work recommended by the committee.

The committee's first budget package had proposed $7.2 million appropriation for the stations. The University had requested $8.4 million.

Marvel said the 6-1 decision, with two members absent or not voting, for an amended appropriation included "certain additional projects, some transfer funds and adjustment in the 14% formula as pertaining cash funds."

The "14% formula" is derived from the seven-year average life of a research project, but University officials contended it should have been applied against general fund determinations and not cash funds.

to adopt employee retirement or annuity plans.

—killed LB717 (5-2), repealing the one per cent deduction from employee salaries for funding past service benefits and providing for its payment from state funds.

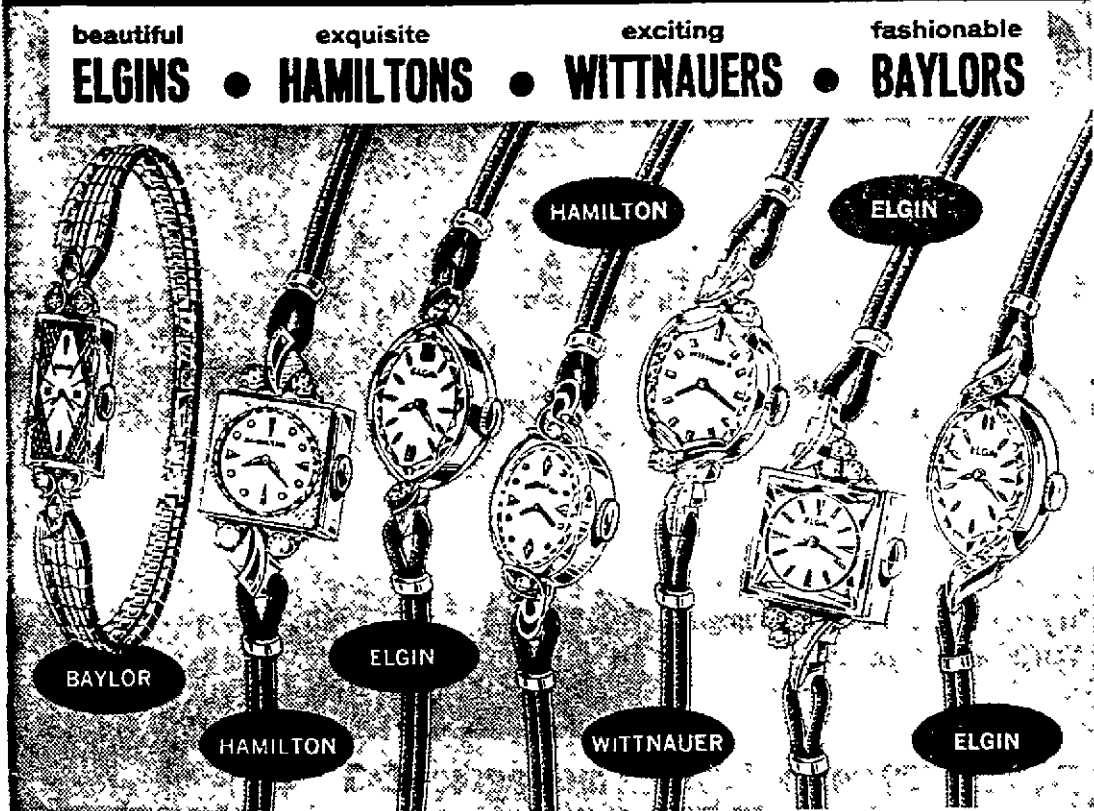

—killed LB486 (7-0), amending statutes to bring public school employees into the State Employees Retirement System.

—killed LB158 (6-0) amending statutes to permit purchase of retirement annuity contracts for employees of the University of Nebraska and state colleges.

—advanced LB493 (6-0), providing an appropriation of $300,000 to keep the Nebraska Safety Patrol Retirement System on an actuarially sound basis.

—killed LB815 (7-0), providing that fiscal information be attached to a legislative bill when it is introduced.

13 Replacement Projects

Dr. Kramer said the recommended program included 13 replacement projects at "strengthening" of 18, as there is "no assurance" the new projects will have cash funds initially.

In other action, the committee advanced LB149, placing municipal judges (Omaha and Lincoln) under the state judges retirement system.

The one-dollar-per-case fee on Omaha and Lincoln's municipal caseload is expected raise $90,000, making the municipal judges retirement funding self-sustaining while giving some financial help to the district and county judge system, currently showing $250,000 deficit.

Other committee action:
—killed LB608 (6-0), authorizing Class III school district

COLLEGES GIVEN GO-AHEAD FOR TENTATIVE SALARY ACTION

The State Normal Board, their faculty members. Thursday authorized the president of the four state colleges to make conditional 1965-66 salary commitments to the board agreed to tentative salary arrangements within the recommended schedule of the Legislature's budget committee subject to final budget approval by the legislature.

The committee has recommended an average increase of 4.5%. The board had requested seven per cent.

Dr. Milton J. Hassel of Kearney State College said his school "has lost three Ph.D.'s in recent days."

"Some colleges are attempting to pick up our faculty members with just a telegraphed salary offer and no interviews," he said. "Apparently they're just looking for Ph.D.'s."

Dr. William Brandenburg, president of Wayne, said, "We knew it was going to be a tough year, but it's already started."

He agreed with Dr. Hassel help. Dr. Neal S. Gommon of Peru State College and Dr. F. Clark Elkins of Chadron State College agreed with their colleagues on the need for some type of salary action now.

Kearney Project Bids Of $1.35 Million OK'd

Low bids totaling $1,350,438 for construction of Kearney State College's new women's residence center for 400 students were approved Thursday by the State Normal Board.

General construction contract for $1,008,650 was awarded L. R. Foy Construction Co., Hutchinson, Kan. Mechanical and electrical work totaling $341,788 went to Anderson Plumbing & Heating Co., Kearney.

The dormitory project, financed by revenue bonds, is to be completed by Aug. 15, 1966.

Furnishing Bids

The board also approved bids totaling $349,286.31 for furnishing the new 440-student dormitory at Wayne State College.

Herman Miller Inc. of Zeeland, Mich., was low at $279,286 for the major furniture contract. Carpentry, draperies and miscellaneous contracts were awarded other low bidders.

Other board action

—Approved low bids for equipment at Peru State College's fine arts building and Majors Hall totaling $53,622.

—was advised the Nebraska Association of Colleges and Universities will hold a one-day meeting May 14 on the Kearney campus.

Office Building By Capitol Endorsed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Thursday overwhelmingly endorsed a proposal to construct a multi-million dollar state office building located on property adjacent to the Statehouse.

Commission for building purposes.

Carpenter presented his plan as an amendment to LB891, the Budget Committee's bill to create a special .20 mill property tax levy over the next four years to finance an office facility.

Left unchanged in the bill was a proposal to appropriate $650,000 from the special levy to finance construction of a new state laboratory building on the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture campus.

The building will house laboratories of the Department of Health and the Department of Agriculture and Economic Development.

The four-year levy would raise about $2,880,000.

Thus, including the recapitulated funds, some $4,630,000 would be available for the new office building.

The $2.4 million in previously appropriated funds were to be used to construct a new Game Commission building on the College of Agriculture campus and a Highway Department office building at its 14th and Burnham complex.

Funds were appropriated for those purposes by the 1963 Legislature but have not yet been committed, Carpenter said.

The state, he said, "should not spread its activities all over Lancaster County." Now, he said, is the Legislature's last chance to "centralize activities near the Statehouse."

The new building, Carpenter noted, could be a state centennial project.

The proposal drew immediate support from other lawmakers.

Following adoption of the amendment, LB891 was bracketed and will be held for one week.

Examiner Urges DuTeau Reinstate 4

A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner has recommended that DuTeau Chevrolet Co. be ordered to reinstate four employees whom the examiner found were discharged last July because of their interest in and activities on behalf of a union.

The recommended order, which goes to the board for final action, would also require the firm to pay the four for any loss of earnings incurred.

The trial examiner found that Robert Ponte, Melvin Kurpuweit, Thomas Slaby and Richard DeWitt were discharged for activity on behalf of Local Lodge 31 of the International Association of Machinists AFL-CIO.

The examiner said the four were fired three days after a union meeting, and added "It is clear to me that the union activities . . . triggered not only their discharge but also the speech" made to employees by management on the same day "to summarize the benefits which respondent was giving and which they were promising to give its employees some time in the future."

"The pattern of conduct engaged in" by the firm, the examiner said, "is extremely suspicious and the reasons given for the discharges and the reasons for the speech are, under the circumstances, incredible . . . there would be no reason for respondent to suddenly tell its employees of its future plans . . . unless it was to counter-act union activities which it had discovered and stopped by the discharges of those most actively so engaged."

The recommended order would also require the DuTeau firm to "cease and desist" from discouraging membership by discriminating in regard to hire or tenure of employment" and from "promising benefits to its employees for the purpose of giving for the discharges and discouraging their union activities."

Man, 63, Enters Guilty Plea In Obscene Material Case

Roland William Young, chief of the janitorial force at the federal office building in Lincoln, pleaded guilty Thursday to a charge of mailing obscene material.

U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt deferred sentencing pending an investigation.

Young, 63, was indicted recently by an Omaha federal grand jury.

Assistant U.S. Atty. Duane Nelson said Young was chief of the janitor force at the time of the mailings.

A Nebraska Penitentiary inmate, Jerry Dean Skaggs, pleaded guilty before Judge Van Pelt to six counts of mail theft. He was sentenced to concurrent one-year terms on each charge.

Another Penitentiary inmate, Calvin Oliver Hensley Jr., pleaded guilty to a charge of interstate transportation of a stolen motor vehicle and to an escape from custody charge.

Hensley was given a two-year prison term on the stolen vehicle count and six months on the escape charge.

NU Fulbright Scholar Goes To Australia

Jerry C. Anway, 25, a University of Nebraska graduate student in botany, is the recipient of a Fulbright fellowship which will enable him to do research in Australia for a year beginning late this summer.

The fellowship, one of the major awards of its kind, will provide all travel expenses, a living allowance of more than $2,000, plus certain other charges related to the research.

Anway, scheduled to receive his Ph.D. from the University of Nebraska this summer, will report to the University of Western Australia, Perth, in August. His wife, Kay Louise, who is a technician with Nebraska's wheat quality control laboratory, will accompany him.

In Australia, Anway will investigate two varieties of the sundew family, plants whose unusual performance has interested botanists for some time.

Anway has pursued graduate study at Nebraska for four years with Professor John F. Davidson. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Anway of Hampton, Ia.

Ecumenism, Poverty, Aged Discussed AT CATHOLIC WOMEN'S MEETING

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON Star Staff Writer

An interdenominational panel incorporated three topics into the theme of "Charity and Our Neighbor as Ourselves" at the closing session here Thursday of the 34th annual convention of the Lincoln Diocesan Council of Catholic Women.

Speaking to some 650 Catholic women, 58 clergy, and Protestant and Jewish guest were Mrs. Fred Nevels Jr., Rabbi Wolfgang Hamburger of the South Street Temple, and the Rev. Carl J. Burkhardt Jr. of Bethany Christian Church.

Mrs. Nevels, speaking about the war on poverty, told the convention audience, "Those who are not poor need to remember the poor."

Always Concerned

Noting that "the church has always been concerned with the plight of the poor," Mrs. Nevels declared that women could be of service through "willingness, determination, prayers and personal involvement, seeking out ways we can use our special skills."

Discussing "what in charity can be done for our senior citizens," Rabbi Hamburger said, "We must make them count—remain attached to them when we no longer need them."

Quoting a Jewish writer who said that a country's property can be evaluated by the treatment of its aged, the Rabbi declared, "We must never get so involved that the other age groups no longer count."

He told the women that "man must learn to be his own faithful companion—that is our preparation for the time of old age." The difference, he said, between old age being "a pleasant task or an annoying imposition is some sort of mutuality, the good will of all."

On the topic of ecumenism, the Rev. Mr. Burkhardt said, "We have found that the greatest challenge to church unity is more within Christianity than in the world. Christian unity," he said, "will not be a moving in some direction, but will come only by digging down in our faith until we come closer to Jesus Christ."

Earlier in the day, the Catholic women had been addressed by Sister Mary Luke, superior general of Sisters of Loretto in Nerinx, Ky. She was one of the American women invited to attend the Vatican Council in Rome.

Relating her Rome experiences, Sister Mary Luke said, "One of the church fathers said in the council that neither the church nor the Kingdom of God will have full protection until women have a part of it."

Lincolnite Gets 2 Years On Bad Check Charge

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele Thursday sentenced a Lincoln man to two years in the Nebraska Penal Complex and fined him $125 on a no-found check charge.

Chester J. Dirks, of 1738 M, had pleaded guilty April 29 to issuing a $15 no-found check March 17. He had earlier pleaded innocent to the charge.

Pay Hike Bill Passed

A bill raising the salary level of several elected state officials was passed 35-9 on final reading in the State Legislature Thursday.

The pay hikes will not go into effect, however, until the start of the next term of the offices affected.

The increases include attorney general, from $15,000 to $16,000; secretary of state, auditor and treasurer, from $10,500 to $12,500, and lieutenant governor, from $5,000 to $6,000.

Legislative Bills Introduced

Bills introduced in the Legislature Thursday:

LB386 (Revenue Committee)—Clarifying provisions of law as set out in 1931 for withholding tax from counties which violate tax law.

LB397 (Revenue Committee)—Providing for appeals from property tax assessments made by the tax commissioner.

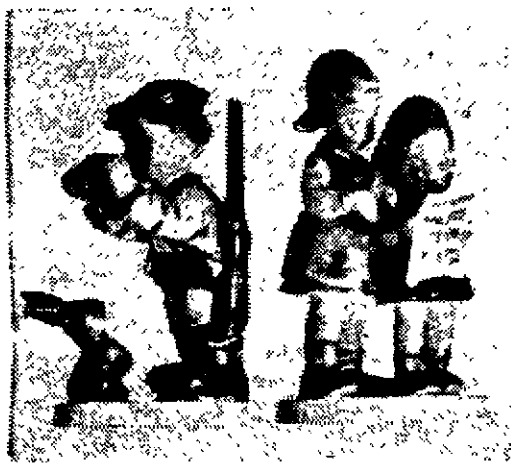

LB398 (Revenue Committee)—Authorizing the tax commissioner to examine property, books, papers, records or memoranda bearing upon the correctness of a taxable property tax return.

LB399 (Revenue Committee)—Revising provisions for taxing property omitted from taxation, and revising penalty provisions.

Proposed Education, Welfare, Institutions Budget Hit

The first assaults on the salary boost for all state employees. In its present form, LB889 proposes salary increases which range from 2% for non-technical and non-professional positions to 5% for certain technical positions and faculty members at the University of Nebraska.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff announced that he may attempt to amend the bill to propose a 3% annual

Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington revealed plans to attempt to raise the committee's proposed $101.655 budget for the Cozad school for trainable mentally retarded children to the full $207,500 requested by the Department of Education.

Kjar said "real results have been obtained" at the school, and "it would be a step backward not to enlarge the facility."

Cozad's budget request had envisioned a doubling of the school's current enrollment of 30 pupils.

Waiting in the wings is Sen. Clifton Batchelder's minority report which proposes a reduction of $4,396,000 in general fund appropriations, chiefly at the university and the state colleges.

LB889 proposes a $192.4 million 1965-67 budget for the educational institutions, the Department of Education, the Department of Public Welfare and the Department of Public Institutions.

Involved in the bill is a general fund increase of $14,313,612 over the current biennium. Such a boost would probably trigger a two-mill increase in the state property tax levy.

The budget envisions a 19% increase in spending over 1963-65.

Debate on the bill will be resumed next Monday.

The first go-around centered on appropriations for Cozad.

The committee recommended an increase of less than $4,000 and suggested, in a background report, that "there is little accomplished at the school that is not being accomplished in other state-supported program for the retarded."

There are between 1,600 and 2,200 trainable retarded children in the state, Marvel said, and most of them are receiving special education undertaken through local school districts. The state finances a portion of the costs.

Kjar said the old Cozad city hall is available to the state school rent-free in order to double its enrollment.

Sanitary Districts Study Proposed

A resolution proposing an interim study of laws covering the formation of sanitary and improvement districts, and practices followed in such formation, was introduced in the Legislature Thursday.

Sen. Richard F. Proud of Omaha, sponsor of resolution 41, noted that it is the custom of many persons who develop subdivisions to form such sanitary districts and that laws permit practices which are sometimes detrimental to the purchasers of real estate in these newly developed areas.

The resolution was referred to the executive board of the Legislative Council for recommendation.

Urban Affairs Unit Moves Its Last Bill

The Legislature's Urban Affairs Committee Thursday completed its business for the current session by advancing a bill giving first class cities specific authority to purchase or lease property inside or outside city limits.

The measure, LB819, introduced by Beatrice Sen. Fred Carstens, also clarifies powers of first class cities to promote the public welfare.

The bill received 6-0 committee approval after a provision was struck which would have authorized first class cities to exercise all legislative powers not expressly prohibited by or inconsistent with the State Constitution or laws.

Open House Set Sunday At Offutt

Omaha (UPI) — Armed Forces Day at Offutt Air Force Base will be celebrated on May 16 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Static displays and exhibits will be set up in the base operations area. All branches of the Armed Forces will be participating. This will give all visitors an opportunity to become familiar with the total military position today.

This year the Royal Air Force will have a Vulcan strategic bomber on static display. This aircraft is currently being used in NATO and has both a nuclear and conventional weapons capability.

The State Board of Parole announced Thursday that it has set a hearing for June 21 on the parole application of Floyd N. Kernmoade, 35, who was convicted of second degree murder in Lancaster County District Court some 13 years ago.

Kernmoade, of Lincoln, pleaded guilty to the rifle slaying of Charles F. Rundle during an argument over some $1,000 that Kernmoade had taken from the Lincoln recluse.

The shooting took place March 1, 1952, in Rundle's home in north Lincoln.

Kernmoade was originally sentenced to life imprisonment but the term was commuted to 45 years in April 1963 by the Parole Board.

Kernmoade is one of seven Penitentiary inmates whose parole applications will be reviewed by the board June 21. The next day the board will review the cases of 13 Reformatory inmates seeking paroles.

Following are the applicants, giving age, home, crime, county in which convicted, term in years, and date sentenced:

Penitentiary:

Clifton Jackson 35, Fremont armed robbery, Cuming 30 Jan. 4, 1946.

Jerry Barker 25, Fremont breaking and entering, Dodge 3 Jan. 10, 1942.

Bobby Smith 43, Omaha manslaughter, Douglas 5 May 1, 1960.

Reformatory:

Bruning Field Lease Goes To Missouri Feeding Firm

Seaboard Cattle Co. assigned its Bruning Airfield lease for a cattle-feeding operation to new operators Thursday with the approval of the State Aeronautics Department.

Director James Sandstedt said the lease was assigned to Bruning Feed Lots Inc., operated by Dean Tiemann of Westboro, Mo., and W. T. Peyton of Kansas City, Mo.

"The new lessees expect to have the 300-acre feed lot back in operation within 60 to 90 days," he said.

Bruning Feed Lots will take over the remaining eight years of the 10-year lease, paying the state $9,600 annually, Sandstedt said. "In event of payment default, Seaboard will be responsible for the payment to the state."

Sandstedt said payment arrangements under the lease assignment are comparable to the original 1963 lease provisions.

Seaboard constructed feeding pens and other facilities for 10,000 head of cattle on the 1,700-acre airfield owned by the Aeronautics Department. No airfield buildings were used.

Seaboard has not had cattle on the installation since mid-1964.

Omaha, Kearney Ask High Court To Uphold 1963 Annexation Law

The City of Omaha Thursday joined the City of Kearney in urging the State Supreme Court to uphold the constitutionality of a 1963 law changing the annexation procedures of first class cities.

"In a 'friend of the court' brief, the City of Omaha urged the high court to uphold the law's constitutionality 'to maintain an effective method of annexation for the orderly development of cities of all classes'."

The case involves a Kearney annexation ordinance, No. 1711, which was based on the 1963 law. The council in May of 1963 adopted the ordinance to annex land north of Kearney, but landowners in the annexed area took the case to court.

The Buffalo County District Court affirmed the law's constitutionality and the landowners, Charles L. Shields and two others, acting for themselves and the township of Collins, appealed to the high court. They contend the law and the resulting ordinance violated constitutional safeguards of personal rights.

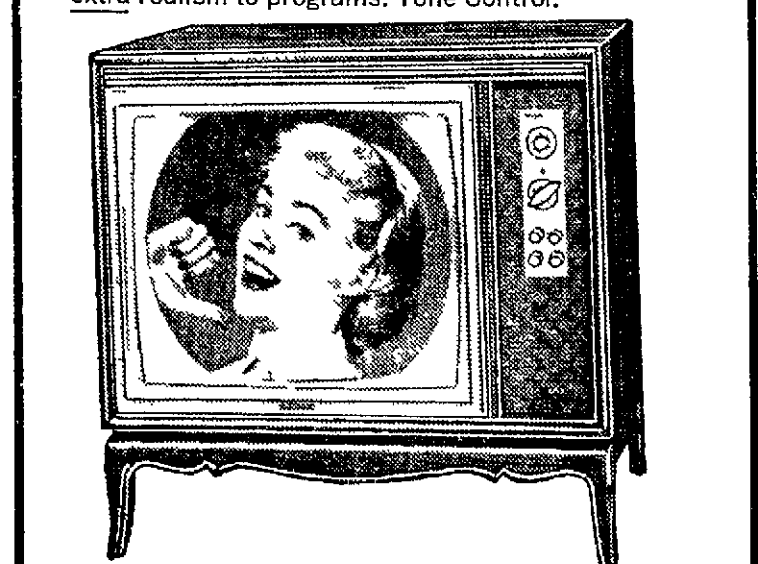

Omaha attorneys argued in their brief that "since the landowner is not denied his day in court but has the right by statute to appeal any annexation ordinance to the district court . . . the law does not violate either the state or federal constitution or any other law."

The 1963 law, passed as LB338, also has been challenged in another case before the Supreme Court concerning an annexation by the City of Scottsbluff.

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What happened to all that wonderful entertainment we used to see on TV? All we get lately is stuff about crime, murder, divorce and young girls going wrong. But worse yet are all those horror things that make your blood run cold. Is this the way to entertain children? Where are all those funny comedians and all that lovely singing and dancing I used to see? We try to raise our children to think clean and lofty, but with all this junk and violence on TV we don't have a chance. Isn't there something we can do about it?

DISGUSTED MOTHER: DEAR DISGUSTED: Yes. You can write to the sponsors of such programs and complain. You can also complain to your local television station and ask them to pass your complaint along to the networks. If enough people express disgust, something will be done. But all one mother can do in the meantime is turn off her set.

***
DEAR ABBY: I am 26, have a good job and I am still a good girl. Three years ago I fell in love with a married man. I didn't know he was married at the time. He said he didn't tell me because he was afraid he would lose me. When I found out about his wife I quit seeing him, but I never really completely got over loving him. He saw a friend of mine one day last week and told her to tell me that he was now divorced and he wanted to see me again. How can I find out if he is really divorced this time? Can you help me?

ONCE BURN'T: DEAR ONCE: Do not walk—RUN in the other direction. Don't bother to find out if he's really divorced or not. It won't make any difference in his behavior. He could be "free" now, but if you married him he could "forget" to tell the next girl who looked good to him that he is married to you. Lose him.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Three No-trump. North leads the queen of hearts, on which South plays the seven. You duck and North leads the eight of hearts, South's king forcing the ace. When you play the king of clubs, both opponents follow suit, but when you continue with the eight, North discards a spade. How would you now play the hand?

1. Obviously, if the trumps are divided 3-2, the contract is sure to make, so the assumption is made that they are divided 4-1. Similarly, if the spades are 3-3, there is no problem, so the assumption is made that they are divided 4-2 or 5-1, with North having the Q10-9 and one or two others.

The problem is to protect against both a 4-1 trump break and a bad spade division. The way to do this is to cash the queen of hearts at trick two and then lead a spade. If South ruffs, you are sure of making the contract, so assume that South either follows suit or discards something.

You then enter dummy with a club and repeat the spade play. Again you are sure of the contract regardless of what South has on does.

This method of play is equally effective if North has the heart and spade length. In that case, you ruff the fourth spade in dummy and lose only a trump trick.

2. It is highly likely that North started with four or five hearts, rather than six.

Luncheon

Entertaining at a 1 o'clock luncheon, Friday, at the Hotel Cornhusker will be the Phi Delta Theta Alliance.

Mrs. Ralph Smith is new president of the group and other officers are Mrs. George Rosenberger, Mrs. Dale Tinsman, vice presidents.

Lemons For Beauty

To keep your skin smooth and clear and your hair brilliant you need the natural cleansing and bleaching properties of lemon. Ask your druggist for a bottle of lemon jelly. The latest lemon-type skin fresher that beautiful women are now using. Lemon jelly is excellent for helping against yellowness of the hands and neck, for beautifying the complexion as it tones and melts away clogging of the surface pores and helps to maintain exquisitely fine textured skin, since it removes only accumulations from the skin and helps wonderfully to tone and beautify the complexion. Lemon jelly is excellent for a quick cleanse or to quell a greasy nose. A little lemon jelly brushed on the hair after your shampoo will give it the glamour of sparkling diamonds. This is a luxury skin fresher and cleanser.

TRAVELS

predominant in news of suburban areas

No one has to be an Arab to travel. Our suburban residents like to plan a jaunt out-of-town every now and then—even if only for one day.

But if there is time to spend a two-day weekend away from home, all it takes is the tossing of a few items in an overnight bag: leave a note for the milkman, and close the windows as a precaution against recurring but sudden spring showers. And away we go!

EASTBOROUGH

Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Peterson and their daughter, Normal, plan to spend a week away from home. They are leaving Sunday for a drive to the southeast section of the country.

The threesome will go directly to Ft. Benning, Ga., where their son—and brother—Larry Peterson, will be a member of the graduating class at Officer Candidate School on Thursday, May 13. The future officer is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

It takes a little more time to pack for a move from one residence to another—but people in suburbia are doing it.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meng still are residing in the Eastborough area, but they have a new address. Mr. and Mrs. Meng and their children, Linda, Mark, Lea, and Larry Paul are now at 8120 Vine St.

EASTMONT

Visitors in Eastmont this week have included a couple from Memphis, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pollard. The travelers plan to visit their daughter in St. Charles, La., but are making the trip by way of Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gaughan and their daughter, Mary Alice, were host and hostesses to the "very dear friends" last weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Pollard arrived in Lincoln Sunday and left again on Monday. According to Mrs. Gaughan, the group didn't have time to run around during those two days as they were too busy reminiscing at home. Mrs. Gaughan said, "We talked a blue streak."

EASTRIDGE

It might be hard for the Junior Scouts of Girl Scout Troup No. 10 to concentrate on their studies at Eastridge School today, because as soon as school is out they will be on their way to Camp Catron at Nebraska City for an overnight camping trip.

The cars are packed with all the staples needed for the campout and the toothbrushes are in—all that is needed to complete the picture and get the caravan on its way are 37 Junior Scouts and five leaders.

Right at 3:30 this afternoon when the school doors open to emit the excited girls, we all had better plan to get out of the way as the scouts rush to pile in the waiting cars. Mrs. Earl Jenkins will head the procession as Scout Troop leader followed by assistant leaders, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Mrs. Bill Smiley, Mrs. Phillip Svitak, and Mrs. Glen Byrd.

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

Although migration trends in the United States show that people are moving generally from the midwest and south towards the west, Mrs. Evelyn M. Coleman isn't afraid to deviate from the statistics. She has come to Country Club Terrace from Los Angeles, Calif.

A fond farewell to Dr. and Mrs. Robert B. Snyder, former residents of Country Club Terrace, who are no longer residing at 2225 Stockwell. They've moved to 1000 Aldrich Road.

BRIDES

A bridal shower honoree on Thursday evening was Miss Jan Rogers of Ainsworth, Delta Gamma at the University of Nebraska, whose approaching marriage to Charles E. Wahl was the incentive for a dessert supper given by Mrs. Earl A. Rogers at her home.

The soon-to-be bride, who has chosen Saturday, June 26, for the ceremony, which will be solemnized in Ainsworth, has named her sister, Miss Sue Rogers, as her maid of honor, and her bridesmaids will be her fiancé's sister, Miss Ann Wahl; Miss Rita Mundhenke of Ainsworth; and Mrs. Sheldon Spencer.

Lighting the candles will be Miss Vickie Elliott and Miss Helen Shearer.

Mr. Wahl's attendants will include Richard Conover, David Krecke, Pat McDonald and John Link.

Choosing a wedding date in July is Miss Jan Elizabeth Reimers, who has announced that her marriage to Jerry Lee Adkins of Kansas City, Kan., will take place July 3.

The summer bride-elect will be honored in the near future when Miss Janet Smith will entertain at a coffee at her home on Saturday morning, May 15.

Also honoring Miss Reimers on Saturday, May 15, will be Miss Joan Rockwell who will be hostess at a miscellaneous shower during the evening hours at her home.

TALK

of the town

Our guest book has been filled with interesting names during the past weeks, and we have more to add this morning.

We think you might like to know that Miss Lisa Kilbourne arrived for a Thursday-to-Monday stay in Lincoln. Miss Kilbourne is attending the Santa Barbara branch of the University of California. She is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Lincoln Kilbourne, and also will visit her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Pace Woods.

Then we learned that Mrs. Harold Johnson (Angie Holbert—DG at Nebraska) and her two sons, Andrew and Dan, are guests at the home of Mrs. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holbert.

The Johnson family, by the way, are in the process of moving from Neenah, Wis., to New York City. As a matter of fact Mrs. Johnson will fly to New York next Thursday to join Mr. Johnson for the weekend, and to do a little house hunting.

Color the Lincoln Country Club 'spring pink'—at least for Saturday evening when the members of the Monday Night Club dine and dance there.

Planning the 'spring pink' affair is a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Drew DeVriendt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ledford, Dr. and Mrs. Norman Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Roehl and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Eiche.

Guests at the dinner dance will be Dr. and Mrs. George A. Young, Jr., of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Laurance Hoagland, also of Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. William T. Edwards.

Sorority Anniversary

The annual Founders Day luncheon of Alpha Delta Pi sorority will be held at noon Saturday, May 15, at the Hotel Cornhusker, with Mrs. L. M. Kalin and Miss Jean Flanagan in charge of arrangements.

Immediately following the luncheon, the annual meeting of the Alpha Epsilon House Corporation will be held.

The sorority was founded at Wesley Female College, Macon, Ga., in 1851.

A FALL wedding is planned

The engagement of Miss Stephanie Leona Bogus, daughter of Mrs. Sylvester Bogus of Elyria, and the late Mr. Bogus to Ronald Lee Hurlbert of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hurlbert of Ord, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's mother.

The wedding will take place in September.

Miss Bogus is a senior at the St. Elizabeth Hospital School of Nursing. Mr. Hurlbert is a graduate of the Nebraska Vocational Technical School.

Not Just For Bettors

When the horses start running at Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha today they won't be running just for the enjoyment nor the anguish of the betting public.

Every boy in Nebraska who has ever raised a pig or a sheep or groomed a pet calf for the county fair in his area and every girl who has ever baked a pie or made a dress for her county fair is a beneficiary of racing at Ak-Sar-Ben.

Ak-Sar-Ben got its name by turning Nebraska backwards, but the Omaha race track has done as much to keep Nebraska moving forwards as any organization in the state.

Ak-Sar-Ben contributed more than 67% of the total revenue that went to county fairs in every Nebraska county last year. This amounted to more than $100,000.

Nebraska race tracks last year contributed more than $130,000 to county fairs—more than $1,400 to each fair in the 93 counties. In addition to the racing revenue that went to support county fairs, Ak-Sar-Ben also contributed nearly $36,000 to help fairs make permanent improvements on their grounds and more than $45,000 for 4-H and FFA premiums.

Those who would abolish horse racing in Nebraska have yet to come up with a substitute means of providing the nearly $200,000 that racing put in the county fair treasuries a year ago.

Fairs Not Alone

But the fairs are not the only place of activity in Nebraska that receives aid from Ak-Sar-Ben and other tracks.

Nebraska's general fund last year received more than one million dollars from the 3% mutual tax with more than $800,000 of this coming from Ak-Sar-Ben.

This figure will be even higher in the future with the tax increase voted in by the current legislature.

Ak-Sar-Ben also provides:

—459 students, nurses and county extension agents, vocational agricultural instructors and school teachers with scholarships at every university and college in Nebraska and at Iowa State University.

—Student loan funds at Nebraska, Creighton and Omaha Universities.

—Assistance for University of Nebraska, 4-H and FFA judging teams.

—Scholarships for firemen and policemen.

—Nebraska and Iowa towns with life-saving equipment.

—The world's largest 4-H and FFA livestock show.

—4-H Leader training institutes throughout Nebraska.

—Agricultural achievement and Pioneer Farm Family awards.

—Good Neighbor, Nebraska newspaper and Nebraska Broadcasting awards.

—Hospitals with more than $13,000 to assist in their charity work.

—School traffic safety signals in the amount of more than $10,000.

—Playground equipment totaling more than $15,000.

When you mention Ak-Sar-Ben, horse racing immediately comes to mind. But horse racing is only a small part of Ak-Sar-Ben—The part that provides the money for Ak-Sar-Ben services.

It should make watching that horse coming in sixth a little less painful.

...Beef State Handicap Headlines Program

Omaha—A top-flight field of Thoroughbreds will help kick off the Ak-Sar-Ben meeting today in both divisions of the $10,000 Beef State Handicap.

Jerry Get Up, who will go into action for the first time this year in the six furlong sprint for three-year-olds and up, will carry top weight of 122 in the second division. Jerry Get Up, owned by A. W. Dow of Belvidere, was Ak-Sar-Ben's top money-winner last year.

Among the leading contenders in the second division of today's feature race are Peppy Cadet, winner of the second division a year ago, and San Fernando, runner-up in the first division last year.

Globe N. Anchor and Mighty Colonel were each assigned 112 pounds in the first division.

Ak-Sar-Ben director of racing Noel Chilcutt calls it "a standout field," adding, "Money-wise, this is more horseflesh than ever before for this race."

—RELAYS ARE FRIDAY—

KC Coed Is Doane Queen

Crete—Jo Ann Adkins, Kansas City, Kansas, freshman has been named Queen of the Doane Relays to be held here Friday.

Seventeen colleges and universities have entered teams in the Relays including nine schools from Kansas, one from South Dakota, five from Nebraska and two from Missouri.

Top season performances by participating schools in individual events have been a 6-9½ high jump by Bill Sommers of William Jewell College, Mo., who is the co-holder of the present relays record of 6-4, and a time of 14.0 in the 120-yard high hurdles by Tom White of Yankton College, S.D. White's time is .6 of a second below the present relay record.

In the relay events the feature race could be the mile relay where Southwestern College, Kan., has a clocking of 3:20.7 and Doane has a clocking of 3:20.9.

Friends University, Kan., returns with the same sprint medley team that holds the Doane record.

Nebraska Wesleyan track coach Woody Greeno will take a full squad to the Relays.

Greeno has been pleased with the improvement of his short distance relay team. The 440-yard relay team composed of Mike Knaub, Steve Welch, Arlan Stromberg and Kendall TeSelle posted a 4:34.

Ak-Sar-Ben will have 42 days of racing with no races on Sundays or Mondays except Holiday Mondays May 31 and July 5. There will be no racing on Tuesdays May 11 and June 1.

A Turf Garden set up in the Coliseum features a first in Thoroughbred racing in this country with the installation of closed circuit television of the races on a 30-foot screen. The main floor of the Coliseum will be used for chairs and tables and the area will have a large refreshment stand available.

Ak-Sar-Ben will be eyeing several records which were established last season. The first will be the opening day attendance of 13,320 in 1964.

The meeting last year attracted 552,650 fans, and the pari-mutuel handle was $3,903,593.

Outstanding Thoroughbreds of the 1964 meeting are coming back to try for added laurels and money. This group includes such stars as Barbaro, Jerry Get Up, Son of Silky, San Fernando, Goodtime Charlie, Say Alibhai, Wind Kist, Amabobbin and Free Dee. All were stakes and handicap winners at Omaha in 1964.

M. H. Van Berg, the Columbus owner-trainer, will be after another year atop the list of money winning owners at Ak-Sar-Ben.

Post time will be 2:00 p.m. each day except Thursday, when twilight racing will begin at 3:00 p.m.

—TOP TEAMS TO COLLIDE—

Devaney Splits Husker Squad

Keeping Nebraska football fans in mind along with the players and coaches, Nebraska head coach Bob Devaney Thursday split his NU squad for Saturday's 3 p.m. intrasquad contest, the finale to spring practice.

"There has been a lot of interest this spring among the fans, players and coaches," Devaney noted. "So we're going to make it even more interesting Saturday."

"The squad will probably be the most evenly divided we've ever had," he continued. "We'll match the first offensive unit against the top defensive unit and second offensive unit against the No. 2 defense."

The break-down for the Saturday game:

Amendment Considered To Power System Bill

The Legislature's Public Works Committee is considering an amendment to LB764 which would assure all affected public power groups positions on the proposed new integrated grid system's first board of directors. Sen Cecil Craft of North Platte said Thursday.

LB764 would consolidate the wholesale electric operations of Loup River Public Power District, Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District and Consumers Public Power District.

The measure received nearly 2 1/2 hours of study by the committee Thursday.

Appointed by Governor Under its present language, the first board of directors for the newly reorganized grid system would be appointed by the governor from among directors now serving on Loup, Platte and Consumers boards. No more than five of the nine new directors could be members of any of the three present boards.

Under committee consideration, Craft said, is an amendment which would direct the governor to appoint two members from each of the three present boards, two board members from rural electric districts, and one member representing municipal utilities.

"The proposal is only in the discussion stage," Craft emphasized. "There has been no decision."

Also under consideration, Craft said, are proposed changes in the composition of subdivisions from which future board members would be elected.

"Together, these two matters form one of the key issues yet to be resolved," Craft said.

"If the committee can reach agreement on these two matters, I think LB764 will stand a much better chance of reaching the floor."

A number of other proposed amendments were considered at the executive session, including one which would clearly state the bill's intent to remove the grid system from any retail activities as of Jan. 1, 1973.

AG UNIT OKAYS BILL SHIFTING 'RESPONSIBILITIES'

The Legislature's Agriculture Committee Thursday sent to the floor, 6-1, a bill transferring certain responsibilities from the state agriculture director to the state veterinarian.

LB394, introduced by Crofton Sen. Jules Burbach, also spells out certain qualifications for the state veterinarian.

The bill was amended by committee to provide that the state vet be appointed by the state agriculture director, instead of by the governor.

The committee advanced 5-1 a bill to give the State Game Commission the power of eminent domain in certain cases.

LB354 originally gave the commission broad powers, but the bill was amended to give the commission eminent domain power in 19 specific areas.

Included in these areas are the Indian Cave State Park, the Ash Hollow Historical Park, the Ponca State Park, and certain interstate lakes.

The consent of the governor would be needed to approve such condemnation action.

The committee advanced 5-3 a bill calling for the testing by the State Agriculture Department of measuring devices on fuel-delivery trucks.

LB701 was amended to apply the provisions to trucks with a capacity of 2,500 gallons or less and to provide for a $3 inspection fee.

In action regarding two bills affecting the state brand inspection area, the committee advanced, 7-0, LB287, which would remove Madison County from the brand area, and advanced, 5-2, LB398 which would add Antelope and Boone counties to the brand area.

Killed, 6-0, was LB467, which would have provided for the posting of name and residence of the owner or operator of an apiary.

The committee advanced, 6-0, LB650 which would allow the State Game Commission to construct a new office building on the University of Nebraska's East Campus.

LB538 was reconsidered, amended and readvanced by the committee. It would establish a predator, bird and rodent management advisory board. The vote was 6-2.

On a series of livestock disease-control measures, the committee took the following action:

—Amended and advanced, 6-1, LB855, providing for recodification and clarification of existing laws for the eradication of brucellosis.

—Amended then killed, 6-1, LB857 which would have required a health certificate for entry of livestock into Nebraska, except for slaughter or when assigned to a federally-inspected stockyard.

—Advanced, 8-0, LB862, clarifying procedures for the disposition of animals dying of anthrax.

—Amended and advanced, 5-1, LB856, which provides for the use of killed, inactivated vaccine for hog cholera. The bill was amended to make the effective date January 1, 1967.

—Advanced, 7-1, LB858, as amended, which would strengthen control measures for scabies in sheep.

—Advanced, 6-2, LB859, which provides that the State Agriculture Department can set up an indemnity fund for farmers who dispose of hogs, infected with or exposed to hog cholera.

Bank, Trust Loan Law Lien Section Replaced

The Legislature Thursday replaced in the proposed new bank and trust company loan law a restriction against banks taking a lien upon real estate as security for loans made under the act.

Sen. John Knight of Lincoln proposed the change in LB52, and it was adopted on a 33-11 vote.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff had succeeded last week in a motion to remove the limitation, but said he would consent to its return if lack of the restriction would tend to kill the bill.

To Promote Competition Carpenter's original effort, he said, was aimed at promoting competition between banks and industrial loan and investment companies, which now have no restriction against the use of real estate as security.

A number of senators opposed the Carpenter amendment because it would permit banks to make loans secured by real estate for 18% interest.

Banks also opposed the Carpenter change.

In other action on pending interest rate bills, Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth won legislative approval to have LB4, his proposed "full disclosure" act, voted upon first when the bills show up on final reading.

Five other interest rate measures were bracketed with LB4 for consideration on the same day, perhaps sometime next week.

Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa said Thursday that his vote Wednesday against advancing LB890, the six-year capital construction program bill, from general file in the Legislature did not mean that he opposed the measure.

"My reason is that we were told at the start of the debate that we would discuss the bill item by item and then vote to advance it from general file," he said.

"We were only about three-fourths through the items when a motion was made to advance the bill to general file. This I opposed, and voted against advancing it until as previously agreed, that all items would be discussed."

"All newsmen present know that I was often on the floor supporting the university, the state schools of higher learning and the state institutions, and will continue to do so."

"My reason is that we were told at the start of the debate that we would discuss the bill item by item and then vote to advance it from general file," he said.

"We were only about three-fourths through the items when a motion was made to advance the bill to general file. This I opposed, and voted against advancing it until as previously agreed, that all items would be discussed."

"All newsmen present know that I was often on the floor supporting the university, the state schools of higher learning and the state institutions, and will continue to do so."

Sen. John Knight of Lincoln proposed the change in LB52, and it was adopted on a 33-11 vote.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff had succeeded last week in a motion to remove the limitation, but said he would consent to its return if lack of the restriction would tend to kill the bill.

To Promote Competition Carpenter's original effort, he said, was aimed at promoting competition between banks and industrial loan and investment companies, which now have no restriction against the use of real estate as security.

A number of senators opposed the Carpenter amendment because it would permit banks to make loans secured by real estate for 18% interest.

Banks also opposed the Carpenter change.

In other action on pending interest rate bills, Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth won legislative approval to have LB4, his proposed "full disclosure" act, voted upon first when the bills show up on final reading.

Five other interest rate measures were bracketed with LB4 for consideration on the same day, perhaps sometime next week.

Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa said Thursday that his vote Wednesday against advancing LB890, the six-year capital construction program bill, from general file in the Legislature did not mean that he opposed the measure.

"My reason is that we were told at the start of the debate that we would discuss the bill item by item and then vote to advance it from general file," he said.

"We were only about three-fourths through the items when a motion was made to advance the bill to general file. This I opposed, and voted against advancing it until as previously agreed, that all items would be discussed."

The continuing boom and the skyrocketing of stock prices add to the popularity of the incumbent Johnson ad-

The opposition should not merely undertake to smooth off the rough edges, but should put a set of priorities on the utilization of American reministration in the words of the late Al-

life is complex and decision making is difficult. While the administration puffs up its proposals, the opposition should dissect them dispassionately and expose the risks entailed in making present decisions about future developments. The function of the opposition is to hold up a mirror, giving the alternative and the risks entailed in a variety of courses of action.

Criticism Essential

Criticism is essential for survival, and national greatness thrives when men are bedazzled by the personalities of men in high office.

Senator Durenth replied: "As the minority, what we've been trying to do is to take a principle and knock the corners off. We haven't always succeeded."

"Now let's take my premise. What is the role of the loyal opposition? Is it to oppose something that's right, even though you have a conviction that it is right? I do not believe so. Our first allegiance is to the wellbeing of the country."

Instead of bewailing the fact that in 12 years federal aid to the states has climbed from 3.8 billion dollars to 13.3 billion, while state aid to the localities has also skyrocketed, it would be more effective to develop a fiscal change. For example, state rights and local rights could be preserved if the tax power were more equitably distributed.

This writer believes that there should be a compact under the constitution between

 "Our job is to go along when he's right, because we're just as much interested in this country as he is.
 "Lincoln once said that every political proposition is a compound of good and evil, and you have to look and see whether it is the evil or the good that preponderates, and make your decision accordingly. I think that's true of nearly everything that goes across the Senate floor.

"If the evil preponderates, our business is to try to stop it, or to knock off the rough corners. It isn't to oppose blindly just for the sake of opposing.

"So, when people say, 'You've been fronting for the President,' well, I haven't been fronting for him, but I've been looking through the same set of glasses for the very good reason that I'm as much interested in the national well-being as he is."

With all due respect to Dirksen, who on the whole has been a good solon through the years, he has not, in my opinion, properly formulated the role of the opposition.

ORDINANCE NO. 8888
An Ordinance creating Water District #71, providing for the payments of the costs of the improvements therein, designating the property to be benefited, and repealing all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith.
BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska: Section 1. That Water District No. 71 be and the same is hereby created; that said water district is created for the purpose of constructing a water main or water mains to supply water for domestic and fire purposes, for the following described real estate, which is hereby included in said water district, to-wit: Lots 7, 8, 9, and 10, Block 8, Woods Brothers Lakeview Acres and the east one-half of Lots 44 and 45 of Irregular Tracts in the Southwest Quarter of Section 21, Township 10 North, Range 6 East of the Sixth Principal Meridian. The cost of constructing said water mains, including the cost of fire plugs, valves, and all other expense incidental to said improvements, shall be assessed against the property benefited in said district, not exceeding the special benefits accruing on account thereof.
Sec. 2. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith, be and the same hereby are repealed.
Sec. 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication according to law.

ORDINANCE NO. 8703
AN ORDINANCE amending Section 27.40.010 of the Lincoln Municipal Code, and amending Chapter 27.40 of the Lincoln Municipal Code by renumbering Section 27.40.127 as a new section to be numbered 27.40.175, all relating to special permits; and repealing Sections 27.40.010 and 27.40.127 of the Lincoln Municipal Code as heretofore existing.
BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska: Section 1. That Section 27.40.010 of the Lincoln Municipal Code be and it is hereby amended to read as follows: "27.40.010. SPECIAL PERMITS. The City Council of the City of Lincoln may, by special permit after public hearing, authorize the location of any of the following buildings or uses designated in Sections 27.40.015 to 27.40.125, inclusive, in any district from which they are prohibited by this title, or set forth in the following sections of this chapter, and may also permit an increase in the height of any such building. Copies of a plot plan of the lot and proposed uses, drawn to an accurate scale and showing all pertinent information, shall accompany a request for a special permit."
Section 2. That Chapter 27.40 of the Lincoln Municipal Code is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be numbered 27.40.175, which shall read as follows: "27.40.175. TRANSITIONAL LOT USES. In addition to the uses permitted in the dwelling district in which a transitional lot is located, such transitional lot may be used for the following purposes:
(a) Office buildings for the following uses only: the practice of medicine and surgery, dentistry, osteopathy, chiropractic, podiatry or optometry, under a license from the Department of Health of the State of Nebraska.
(b) One nonilluminated sign or name plate with an area of not more than two square feet attached to the front wall of the building, indicating the name of the occupant and the nature of the service offered to the public.
(c) The floor area of the building may not exceed twenty-five per cent of the lot area.
(d) The parking requirements for the above uses shall be in the ratio of not less than one parking space for each two hundred square feet of floor space in the building. There shall be no parking of motor vehicles or of vehicles at any place in a front yard or in a side yard adjacent to a dwelling district where the erection of a building is prohibited by this title, or in any part of the lot between a building lawfully occupied as a dwelling in this title and any side lot line adjacent to a dwelling district."
Section 3. That Sections 27.40.010 and 27.40.127 of the Lincoln Municipal Code as heretofore existing be and they are hereby repealed.
Section 4. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication according to law.
